Individual contract manufacturing for lubricants

Flexibility and versatility in the filling and labelling of a wide range of products

Your good reputation, our high-quality products: fuel and lubricants for trade and industry.

The OEST group is one of the most important medium-sized oil companies in Germany.

As a traditional supplier of a complete range of products, we develop, manufacture and sell lubricants and fuel for automotive vehicles, for the industry and for end consumers, as well as for the metal processing sector. We are affiliated to the international UNITI and VSI associations.

Our high-performance products can mainly be found on the international market under the OEST brand name; our products may also be sold under our customers' own label. Various oil companies rank among the major customers in this sector. OEST contract manufacturing to pre-determined formulas are also of great interest to a number of other purchasing groups, such as DIY stores, car workshops, automobile suppliers and machine and plant manufacturers. The motor lubricants, gearbox lubricants, hydraulic lubricants, biological lubricants and service products for car workshops available in our extensive range of products are in particular demand.

OEST contract manufacturing

Individual and versatile to meet the highest standards

Our profound expertise and policy of offering an effective, market-oriented product range make OEST a strong partner for customised solutions in the area of contract manufacturing. For example, all relevant approvals from automobile and truck manufacturers (e.g., Actros to MAN approvals in the truck sector) can be provided on our premises.

At the top of the OEST service package is our resource-saving, environmentally-friendly warehouse management. The range covers a huge variety of containers and labels, automated fill and seal technology to customer-specific delivery. This also includes neutral, Europe-wide transport to the end consumer, if required - safely and reliably.

OEST naturally provides all required safety data sheets as well as the necessary directions for use to ensure that the product is used optimally. If required, our service also includes on-site application assistance provided by our qualified staff. In addition to manufacturing according to customer order, we also offer contract filling for fuels and lubricants supplied by the customer, according to individual container and labelling specifications.
